

The search for the right morphology

As part of my pursuit for composition and formation, I created models. In the below schemes you can see the structure positioning on site.

