

New buildings rise above the university and become windows into the world of technology for city residents.