

EXPERIENCING THE MUSEUM

Exit view

Visitors end the experience of the museum by taking a ramp in a dark corridor leading to the ground floor. The transition between darkness and lightness finds its climax when suddenly a series of pools and small waterfalls illuminate the environment. The view of the water previously taken is finally given back, completing the circle.

